Decorative Roses can be added to any design lever or knob currently shown in the F-Series collection. FA knobs and levers have transitioned to the F-Series (Georgian Rose). The Danbury egg design, which is very similar to the Siena, is being discontinued. Those customers who want a similar rose the current FA-Series will be able to order a new rose in the Decorative Collection called the Andover Rose. The Andover Rose may be ordered with any knob or lever in the F-Series Collection. Locks must be ordered with the desired rose. Roses, Levers and Knobs are not interchangeable. Initially please allow 3 weeks for delivery. B&B will periodically make announcements in this newsletter as to which designs and finishes will be added to our inventory.

Rogue Valley Door Notes:

Please note that the ARP (Aspen Raised Panel) with bevel sticking cannot be used in doors narrower than 16”.

RV: FSC - in practical terms

FSC chain of custody requires every company that handles an FSC certified door to be licensed. This includes the manufacturer, the distributor, the lumberyard and the contractor. From a cost standpoint this makes selling/quoting a small number of doors impractical. FSC chain of custody doors will be economical only in large commercial projects.

Masonite Fire Door Edges

Fire doors with a rating of 45-90 minutes from Masonite have a 3/8” wood strip before factory trim. The doors are trimmed to the net door width that you require. The effective width of the edge strip after trim can be as small as 1/8”. It is possible that after hinge machining that you may see a white core behind the hinge. This is not defective. The edge strip is only for aesthetics. Doors are manufactured with a 1” composite mineral core behind the edge strip that has the same screw retention strength as wood. After that 1” strip there is the standard mineral core.

Schlage Commercial Price Increase

Schlage announced a 4% price increase on all of their commercial lock products for July 18th, 2011. This increase includes Series: A, S, H and Falcon among other lines found in their commercial price book.

HBG Price Increase

HBG columns and porch systems has announced their second price increase this year. Their new pricing (approximately 5% increase) will be effective with orders placed on August 18, 2011. This date will impact drop shipments and any custom quotes older than 30 days. Our warehouse pricing will change effective September 1st, 2011. Last month B&B instituted a new discount sheet which covered HBG’s April 1st price increase. Your Sales Representative will update your current discount sheet to reflect this change. Those customers who do not have a salesman will be notified via e-mail or fax.

HBG Install Kits

Column install kits are not tested for a high wind “Uplift Rating”. If your jurisdiction requires an uplift rating the factory suggests installing a load bearing pole inside the column or using an alternate install method that has been tested. The factory suggests “Simpson Strong Tie” as an alternate for installation connectors.
